

DUCKBOAT WORLDS 2000

A Race & Restoration Competition to Keep a Past Century Tradition Alive.

The first duckboat was built by Hazelton Seamon at West Creek New Jersey, on Barnegat Bay in 1836. Phil Clarke became near famous at the Jersey shore for building Duckboats primarily for sail and racing. The racing phenomena grew throughout the last century. Today the Duckboat is not a racing class and almost extinct. That will change with this year's Duckboat Worlds 2000. To rekindle interest in this dying breed of boats each entrant who refurbishes a boat and races it will be eligible for a $5000 donation to his or her charity or to a junior sailing program on Barnegat Bay. Any boat in a garage or boat yard which is refurbished and considered to be in "Bristol condition" may enter this year's competition.
